

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Coffey Geosciences Pty Ltd acknowledge the valuable contributions made to this project by the following individuals and organisations:

The Steering Committee:

- Mr Brian Hobsbawn, Environment Australia;
- Ms Christine Schweizer, Environment Australia;
- Ms Leanne Mason, Environment Australia;
- Ms Sharon Rees, Environment Australia;
- Ms Janine Cullen, Australian Greenhouse Office;
- Mr Peter King, Department of Industry, Science and Resources;
- Ms Sandra Radke, Department of Industry, Science and Resources;
- Mr Bruce Harrison, Department of Industry, Science and Resources; and
- Mr Jon Real, Department of Transport and Regional Services.

The Project Team members:

- Mr Ross Best, Coffey Geosciences Pty Ltd
- Ms Frances Kavanagh, Coffey Geosciences Pty Ltd
- Mr Anthony Stuart, Coffey Geosciences Pty Ltd
- Mr Michael Mowle;
- Dr Frank Carnovale;
- Mr Peter Barnes of P. Barnes and Associates;
- Mr Peter Anyon of Parsons Australia Pty Ltd;
- Mr John Saw of Ecologica Pty Ltd; and
- Mr John Zeitsch of Tasman Asia Pacific Pty Ltd.

The Australian Institute of Petroleum and the petroleum industry:

- Mr Barry Challenger, Australian Institute of Petroleum;
- Mr Jim Starkey, Australian Institute of Petroleum;
- Mr Alan Bailey, Mobil Oil Australia Ltd;
- Mr Geoff Davis, Mobil Oil Australia Ltd;
- Mr Greg Engeler, Caltex Australia Petroleum Pty Ltd;
- Mr Adrian Moore, Caltex Australia Petroleum Pty Ltd;
- Mr Barry Woods, Caltex Australia Petroleum;
- Mr Mark Sanders, BP Australia Ltd;
- Mr Alan Glissing, BP Australia Ltd;
- Mr Frank Russell, BP Australia Ltd;
- Mr Peter Kardashinsky, Shell Refining (Australia) Pty Ltd;
- Mr Steve Burger, Shell Company of Australia;
- Mr Ian Bridgland, Shell Company of Australia; and
- Mr Jim Le Cornu, Shell Services International (Australia) Pty Ltd.

Information and analyses provided by the petroleum industry were invaluable in assessing the impact of the proposed fuel quality scenarios on costs to their industry.

Numerous comments and suggestions were also made by petroleum industry representatives during the development of the scenarios for fuel quality.

The Federal Chamber of Automotive Industries and its members:

- Mr Rex Scholar, Federal Chamber of Automotive Industries;
- Mr Mark Morarty, Toyota Australia;
- Mr Roger King, Ford Motor Company of Australia Pty Ltd;
- Mr Phillip Stirling, Holden Ltd;
- Mr Malcolm Preston, BMW; and
- Mr Keith Marsh, Mitsubishi Motors Australian Ltd.

Other stakeholders:

- Contributing members of State Government environmental and transport departments;
- The Treasury;
- Contributing members of automobile associations; and
- All the stakeholders who contributed to the consultation process during the development of the scenarios for fuel quality.