

If GBRMPA continues to promote unsubstantiated fact as actual fact scientific progress will halt and there will be a sad future for the rest of us.

GBRMPA are accountable only to themselves and a parliament that has succumbed to green pressure.

GBRMPA is the only individual or organisation with enough funds and resources to promote their point of view and they do so the detriment of all others.

Someone from each stake holder group should be on the GBRMPA board to ensure all interested parties have a final say in how GBRMPA operates. Some system of accountability is required to ensure they make decisions based on fact.

The reef belongs to all of us.

Ian Spradbrow.